"4.2.14 Risks relating to securities lending transactions"

Some underlying funds of the Constituent Funds may enter into securities lending transactions and such transactions are subject to risks relating to securities lending transactions.

- (a) Counterparty risk

Securities lending transactions may involve the risk that the counterparty may fail to return the securities lent out in a timely manner. In this event, the relevant underlying funds could experience delays in recovering its securities and may possibly incur a capital loss. Securities lending transactions may also involve wrong-way risk which may occur when the probability of counterparty default is negatively correlated with the value of the collateral.

(b) Collateral risk

As part of the securities lending transactions, the relevant underlying funds must receive at least 100% of the valuation of the securities lent as collateral marked-to-market on a daily basis. However, there is a risk of shortfall of collateral value due to inaccurate pricing of the collateral, adverse market movements in the collateral value, change of value of securities lent. This may cause significant losses to the relevant underlying funds if the counterparty fails to return the securities lent out. The relevant underlying funds may also be subject to liquidity and custody risk of the collateral, as well as legal risk of enforcement.

(c) Operational risk

By undertaking securities lending transactions, the relevant underlying funds are exposed to risk of errors or disruptions in the operation processes of securities lending such as settlement, reconciliation and recordkeeping. The relevant underlying funds are also exposed to operational risks (e.g. error in settlement, collateral management) and resilience risks (e.g. the ability to operate during disruptions) of the securities lending agent. Such delays and disruptions may restrict the relevant underlying funds' ability in meeting delivery or payment obligations from redemption requests."

Page 28 – Under the section headed "4.2 Risk factors", the risk factor "4.2.14 Risk in relation to futures and options contracts" shall be re-named and re-numbered as "4.2.15 Risks in relation to futures and options contracts" and the paragraph underneath this risk factor shall be amended and restated as follows:

"4.2.15 Risks in relation to futures and options contracts"

Some of the Constituent Funds may use futures and options contracts for hedging purposes. The manager of the underlying APIFs may acquire financial futures and options contracts for some of the APIFs for hedging and other purposes. The value or return of these types of instruments is based on the performance of an underlying asset. These instruments may be volatile and involve various risks, including market risk, the risk of lack of correlation or leverage effect, liquidity risk, the risk of non-performance by the counterparty."

9. Pages 28 - 36 – Under the section headed "4.2 Risk factors", the numbering of the original sub-sections 4.2.15 through 4.2.23 shall be renumbered as sub-sections 4.2.16 through 4.2.24 respectively.
