Commentary 評論

Performance of the global equity markets were mixed in the fourth quarter of 2005. The U.S. equity markets traded sideways dragged by lofty oil prices and rising interest rates. The European bourses performed well on merger and acquisition speculations and brilliant basic resource sector. Japanese equities rallied, driven by growing evidence for a sustainable economic recovery and continuous capital inflow. In Asia, the Korea market once again was the best performer among major markets, buoyed by improving domestic consumption and exports. However, the Hong Kong equity market posted a loss, as fears about further rate hikes in October and a larger-than-expected rate hike in November hurt market sentiment and dragged property related counters. Optimisms over the end of the tightening cycle in the U.S. should bode well for equities in the near term. However, medium-term outlook seems volatile, as corporate earnings growth, oil prices movement, as well as global economic performances would eventually weigh on the equity markets in the medium term.

Major bond markets traded volatile in the fourth quarter of 2005. U.S. 10-year Treasury note yield surged to its 16-month high at 4.65% in early November after signs of robust economic growth fuelled worries that the Fed would keep raising rates. Bond markets then recovered as investors began expecting the U.S. tightening cycle to be nearing an end. The December FOMC minutes further convinced investors that U.S. rates would peak out in the first quarter of 2006. Apart from a 50bps rate hikes in the U.S. during the quarter, the ECB also raised its key official rate for the first time in five years by 25bps on 1 December, stating that it was not set on a series of rate hikes and would rather monitor closely the development of price stability. Central banks in Canada, Sweden and New Zealand also raised their key official rates by 25bps during the quarter to combat inflationary pressures of their respective countries. Although the U.S. Treasury yield curve has flattened, or even inverted occasionally, the U.S. economy is unlikely to fall in recession in 2006.

環球股票市場於第4季個別發展。美國股市受高油價及加息因素所拖累而表現牛皮。歐洲股市則受收購合併消息及資源類股份急升所刺激而造好。日本股市在更多數據顯示經濟持續復甦及外資湧入的帶動下而表現突出。亞洲方面，在本土消費及出口持續改善下，南韓股市繼續成為區內表現最佳的股市。而香港股市則下跌，主要因為市場於10月憂慮利率會進一步上升及11月份的加息幅度較市場預期為高，打擊市場的投資情緒及拖累地產類相關股票表現。美國加息周期即將結束的憧憬將有利短期股票市場的表現。但企業盈利、油價走勢以及環球經濟表現等因素將會影響股市的中期走勢，因此股市的中期表現將較為反覆。

環球債市於第4季表現反覆。美國經濟數據顯示經濟增長強勁，令市場憂慮聯儲局會繼續加息，刺激美國10年國庫債券的息率於11月初升至其16個月以來的新高位4.65%。後來投資者開始預期美國的加息周期即將完結，債市因而有所反彈。美國12月公開市場委員會的會議記錄更進一步令投資者相信美國利率將於2006年初見頂。除了美國於季內加息50點子外，歐洲央行亦於12月1日將其主要官方利率調升25點子，該次加息為5年以來的首次加息行動。歐洲央行強調是次加息並不意味一連串的加息行動已經開始，但會密切注視物價的發展。加拿大、瑞典和紐西蘭的中央銀行亦於季內分別將其官方利率調升25點子以壓抑國內的通脹壓力。雖然美國國庫債券的孳息曲線已趨平坦，甚至曾一度出現逆轉的情況，但美國經濟應不會於2006年步入衰退。

Commentary 評論

Asian equity markets posted brilliant performance in the fourth quarter of 2005. Continuous fund inflow and bullish investment sentiment, mainly driven by optimism that the U.S. Fed is close to ending its tightening stance, triggered the rally in the Asian markets. The Korea market once again was the best performer among major markets, buoyed by improving domestic consumption and exports. The Taiwan market was also boosted by the victory of the KMT party in the local election and upward earnings revision of the technology sector. However, the Hong Kong market lagged behind major markets in the region, as fears about further rate hikes in October and a larger-than-expected rate hike in November hurt market sentiment and dragged property related counters. In 2006, the expected gradual weakening of the U.S. dollar would precipitate further revaluation of the Asian currencies, particularly the Korean won, the Taiwan dollar and the renminbi. While stronger currencies would be negative for exports in these markets, the domestic consumption should benefit from cheaper imports. On the back of a likely end to Fed rate hikes and steady global economic growth, the investment outlook in the Asian equity markets remains positive. 亞洲股票市場於第4季表現突出。資金持續的流入,加上市場憧憬美國的加息周期快將完結利好投資氣氛,刺激區內股市急升。在本土消費及出口持續改善下,南韓股市繼續成為區內表現最佳的股市。台灣股市亦受惠於國民黨在地方選舉中大勝及科技股盈利被調升而表現出色。但香港股市的表現則較其他區內股市遜色,主要因為市場於10月憂慮利率會進一步上升及11月份的加息幅度較市場預期為高,打擊市場的投資情緒及拖累地產類相關股票表現。由於美元預期於2006年將逐步下滑,令亞洲貨幣,特別是韓圓、台幣及人民幣兌美元有升值的壓力。雖然貨幣升值對該等市場的出口不利,但進口價格的下調有利內部消費的增長。亞洲股市在美息可能即將見頂以及環球經濟持續增長的支持下,其投資前景仍被看好。

The Hong Kong equity market posted a loss in the fourth quarter of 2005 and lagged behind major equity markets in Asian region. Fears about further rate hikes in October and a larger-than-expected rate hike in November hurt market sentiment and dragged property related counters. On the other hand, the HSCEI was up 1.97% q-o-q in the quarter after a strong run in the third quarter. Indeed, China-related stocks had mixed performances, as gains in Sinopec, Bank of Communication and insurers counteracted falls in bellwether PetroChina and other commodity plays. Latest U.S. FOMC minutes hinted that monetary tightening in the U.S. would be close to an end, which relieved concerns over rising rates and lent support to the equity market. Besides, continued strength in the economy, expectations of further rise in RMB and pending gigantic IPOs should form a solid base for China-related shares. However, diverged performances are expected, as outlook for different sectors would continue to be driven by discrete government policies and industry reforms. Overall, the Hong Kong equity market is expected to have a strong run in the first quarter of 2006, as the main obstacle of the market — interest rate uncertainty — has been largely removed. 香港股市於第4季下跌,其表現較亞洲其他主要股市遜色,主要因為市場於季初憂慮利率會進一步上升及11月份的加息幅度較市場預期為高,打擊市場的投資情緒及拖累地產類相關股票表現。另一方面,恆生中國企業指數承接第3季的升勢,於第4季再攀升1.97%;然而,各中資股表現參差,其中中國石油化工、交通銀行及保險類股票皆錄得升幅,抵銷了中國石油及其他商品類股票的跌幅。最近美國聯儲局公開市場委員會的會議記錄顯示美國的緊縮貨幣政策已接近尾聲,消除了市場對加息的憂慮,並對股市帶來了支持。此外,經濟持續增長、對人民幣繼續升值的預期,以及緊隨的大型招股活動均有利中資股的表現。然而,中央政府的政策及行業的改革將會影響不同行業的前景,因此各中資股的表現預期將繼續有所差異。總括而言,香港股市於2006年首季可望因不明朗因素(特別是息口去向)大致消除而下表現強勁。

Despite the Fed's moderate rate hikes, banks in Hong Kong have raised their respective interest rates more aggressively than the Fed. They raised their respective prime rates by 75bps in the fourth quarter of 2005 and most banks' prime rates ranged from 7.75% to 8% by the end of 2005. There were some signs of economic slowdown, and the property market also cooled down, as reflected by slower mortgage loan demand in November. Over the fourth quarter of 2005, the 1-year CD yield surged to 4.69% in early November from 4.29% in early October and then dropped back to 4.4% level by the end of the year. Since the Fed may have one or two more rate hikes to go, and it is believed that banks in Hong Kong will follow in line with the Fed's tightening actions, the upward pressure on Hong Kong dollar bond yields should persist in the short term. However, as the Fed Funds rate is expected to peak out in the first quarter of 2006, the upward pressure on Hong Kong dollar interest rates should also subside accordingly. Besides, slowdown in Hong Kong economic growth also helps relieve the upward pressure on interest rates to a certain extent. Nevertheless, Hong Kong dollar bond yields may stay at relatively high levels and the yield curve is likely to remain very flat for some time even after the end of the tightening cycle.

縱使美國聯儲局採取循序漸進的加息步伐，但香港銀行的加息幅度則大於聯儲局。香港銀行於2005年第4季分別將其最優惠利率調升75點子，令大部份銀行的最優惠利率於年底升至7.75%-8%的水平。香港經濟出現放緩的跡象，而按揭貸款需求減少亦反映地產市場開始降溫。於2005年第4季，1年期存款的息率由10月初的4.29%升至11月初的4.69%，及後於年底回落至4.4%的水平。由於聯儲局應再有一至兩次的加息行動，而香港銀行預料會緊隨聯儲局而調升其利率，因此港元債券的息率於短期內將繼續面臨上調的壓力。然而，聯邦基金利率預期會於2006年第1季見頂，屆時港元債券息率的上調壓力應會減弱。此外，香港經濟增長放緩亦某程度上有助舒緩利率上調的壓力。但是，即使加息周期告結，港元債券的息率可能仍會處於高水平徘徊，而息率曲線亦應會於一段時期內維持平坦。

Performance of the global equity markets were mixed in the fourth quarter of 2005. The U.S. equity markets traded sideways dragged by lofty oil prices and rising interest rates. The European bourses performed well on merger and acquisition speculations and brilliant basic resource sector. Japanese equities rallied, driven by growing evidence for a sustainable economic recovery and continuous capital inflow. In Asia, the Korea market once again was the best performer among major markets, buoyed by improving domestic consumption and exports. However, the Hong Kong equity market posted a loss, as fears about further rate hikes in October and a larger-than-expected rate hike in November hurt market sentiment and dragged property related counters. Optimisms over the end of the tightening cycle in the U.S. should bode well for equities in the near term. However, medium-term outlook seems volatile, as corporate earnings growth, oil prices movement, as well as global economic performances would eventually weigh on the equity markets in the medium term. Major bond markets traded volatile in the fourth quarter of 2005. U.S. 10-year Treasury note yield surged to its 16-month high at 4.65% in early November after signs of robust economic growth fuelled worries that the Fed would keep raising rates. Bond markets then recovered as investors began expecting the U.S. tightening cycle to be nearing an end. The December FOMC minutes further convinced investors that U.S. rates would peak out in the first quarter of 2006. Apart from a 50bps rate hikes in the U.S. during the quarter, the ECB also raised its key official rate for the first time in five years by 25bps on 1 December, stating that it was not set on a series of rate hikes and would rather monitor closely the development of price stability. Central banks in Canada, Sweden and New Zealand also raised their key official rates by 25bps during the quarter to combat inflationary pressures of their respective countries. Although the U.S. Treasury yield curve has flattened, or even inverted occasionally, the U.S. economy is unlikely to fall in recession in 2006.

環球股票市場於第4季個別發展。美國股市受高油價及加息因素拖累而表現牛皮。歐洲股市則受收購合併消息及資源類股份急升所刺激而造好。日本股市在更多數據顯示經濟持續復甦及外資湧入的帶動下而表現突出。亞洲方面，在本土消費及出口持續改善下，南韓股市繼續成為區內表現最佳的股市。而香港股市則下跌，主要因為市場於10月憂慮利率會進一步上升及11月份的加息幅度較市場預期為高，打擊市場的投資情緒及拖累地產類相關股票表現。美國加息週期即將結束的憧憬將有利短期股票市場的表現。但企業盈利、油價走勢以及環球經濟表現等因素將會影響股市的中期走勢，因此股市的中期表現將較為反覆。環球債券市場於第4季表現反覆。美國經濟數據顯示經濟增長強勁，令市場憂慮聯儲局會繼續加息，刺激美國10年國庫債券的息率於11月初升至其16個月以來的新高位4.65%。後來投資者開始預期美國的加息週期即將完結，債市因而有所反彈。美國12月公開市場委員會的會議記錄更進一步令投資者相信美國利率將於2006年初見頂。除了美國於季內加息50點子外，歐洲央行亦於12月1日將其主要官方利率調升25點子，該次加息為5年以來的首次加息行動。歐洲央行強調是次加息並不意味一連串的加息行動已經開始，但會密切注視物價的發展。加拿大、瑞典和紐西蘭的中央銀行亦於季內分別將其官方利率調升25點子以壓抑國內的通脹壓力。雖然美國國庫債券的孳息曲線已趨平坦，甚至曾一度出現逆轉的情況，但美國經濟應不會於2006年步入衰退。

Despite the Fed's moderate rate hikes, banks in Hong Kong have raised their respective interest rates more aggressively than the Fed. They raised their respective prime rates by 75bps in the fourth quarter of 2005 and most banks' prime rates ranged from 7.75% to 8% by the end of 2005. There were some signs of economic slowdown, and the property market also cooled down, as reflected by slower mortgage loan demand in November. Over the fourth quarter of 2005, the 1-year CD yield surged to 4.69% in early November from 4.29% in early October and then dropped back to 4.4% level by the end of the year. Since the Fed may have one or two more rate hikes to go, and it is believed that banks in Hong Kong will follow in line with the Fed's tightening actions, the upward pressure on Hong Kong dollar bond yields should persist in the short term. However, as the Fed Funds rate is expected to peak out in the first quarter of 2006, the upward pressure on Hong Kong dollar interest rates should also subside accordingly. Besides, slowdown in Hong Kong economic growth also helps relieve the upward pressure on interest rates to a certain extent. Nevertheless, Hong Kong dollar bond yields may stay at relatively high levels and the yield curve is likely to remain very flat for some time even after the end of the tightening cycle.
